JUNE 2020

Situation Update

International consultation

As of 1 July, World Archery once again recognises national events that are registered in its calendar for the purposes of world records and performance awards. The international calendar is still on hiatus. Over the past few months, World Archery's event staff has worked on options to hold a shortened schedule of tournaments in the autumn. This process will now enter a two-week consultation phase. A final decision on the 2020 season will be announced no later than 15 July.

COVID-19 fund

Thirty-five international athletes will receive grants from World Archery and the Foundation for Global Sports Development's COVID-19 fund. A total of 190,000 USD will be distributed in amounts of between 1500 and 7500 USD per athlete. The fund was made available by the Foundation for Global Sports Development solely for the purpose of financially assisting archers whose income had been lessened by the COVID-19 pandemic. Some 122 archers submitted applications and 40 were accepted for the second phase of assessment.

Governance

Improvement

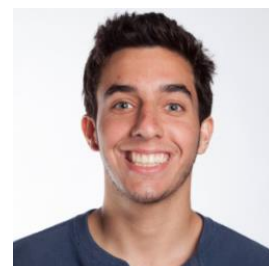

The Association of Summer Olympic International Federations has released its third governance report and World Archery has landed at the top of Group B. All federations representing sports on the Olympic programme were evaluated. World Archery scored 134 in the review, an increase on the 111 and 91 achieved in previous editions, and now comfortably exceeds the target of 120 set by the ASOIF governance taskforce. The result is above average for federations with a staff size of less than 20 and a budget of less than eight million CHF.

Awards

Athlete of the Month

Colombian world number two Sara Lopez has been named the athlete of May 2020 by the World Games following her victory in the inaugural Lockdown Knockout. She defeated Anders Faugstad, 146-144, in the final of archery's first remote tournament. The 25-year-old won the compound women's event at the last World Games held in Wroclaw, Poland in 2017. She was previously named the International World Games Association's athlete of the month in April 2014.

Federation of the Year

Archery Denmark was named federation of the year at the Danish Olympic Committee's congress on 20 June, receiving a diploma and 13,000 EUR prize. The governing body was lauded for its strategic work developing archery, particularly for its flexibility in developing new pathways into the sport. Federations representing 62 sports are members of the Danish Olympic Committee.

Fair play Prize

Recurve archers Jeff Henckels, Gilles Seywert, Pit Klein and Joe Klein won the Prosper Link Fairplay at Prize Luxembourg Olympic and Sports Committee general assembly. It was presented for a gesture during the European Games in Minsk when they lent some of their equipment to the German team. The award had not been presented for nine years.

Initiatives

Event summit

The second Summer Summit, on the subject of events, was held on Sunday 28 June. Seven pieces of content that studied, discussed and learnt on the experience of veteran event organisers were released every hour from 10h00 CET. The first of the four summits, which took place in May, focused on the winning attitude required by archers. Future summits in July and August will be for judges and coaches.

Events

World Master Games

The organisers of the 2021 World Master Games in Kansai, Japan will inform people on the waiting list if they have been given a space at 10h00 JST on 6 September 2020. If more places become available after this date, the organisers will inform World Archery.

World Field Championships

The 2020 World Archery Field Championships in Yankton, USA have been postponed until 2022. The event was due to take place in September this year at the NFAA Easton Yankton Archery Center. The decision was made to safeguard athlete wellbeing and due to restrictions still in place because of the COVID-19 pandemic. A one-year postponement was rejected due to the number of events already moved to 2021.

Lockdown Knockout

Canadian Olympian Crispin Duenas beat Mexico's Aida Roman, 7-1, to become champion of the Lockdown Knockout on Sunday 21 June, the recurve version of the international remote tournament featuring eight of the world's top archers. Duenas was the top qualifier in the event, shooting 595 out of a possible 600 for the 60-arrow 18-metre ranking round. Through three matches, he shot 13 sets and 39 arrows – and only one out of the 10-ring. He was a deserved winner.

Remote national events

With competitions cancelled until the summer, several national federations have run online tournaments. World Archery head of technology Matteo Pisani and Ianseo have supported people in Belgium, Russia, Sweden, Austria, Japan, Italy, France and Great Britain in starting digital events. The event in Belgium is now into its 13th week.

In France, 1829 members of the national archery federation have registered to take part in a week-long #FFTAVOSARC Challenge.

Coaching

Online seminar

World Archery Asia will organise online coaching seminars in August with sessions led by experts including Pascal Colmaire, Kim Hyung Tak, Robert Turner, Chen Szu-yuan and Kim Young Sook. The schedule is as follows:

- 4 August: Course introduction and shooting method (breathing)
- 6 August: Recurve technique analysis
- 11 August: Compound technique Analysis
- 13 August: National team management and training and psychology

Each two-hour session will include a lecture followed by questions and answers. It will be either live on Zoom or a recorded video with a live question and answer session. All lectures will be uploaded on World Archery Asia's YouTube channel afterwards.

Obituary

Peter Frost

Quicks Archery staff member Peter Frost lost his fight with lymphoma and passed away on 24 June. Peter represented Great Britain at the World Archery Indoor Championships in 1995 and several times at field championships. He went on to assist team management and was an enthusiastic ambassador for the sport. Peter was well-known and respected among fellow competitors, team members and colleagues in the industry and leaves behind many archery friends.

Ed Marten

Former USA archer and leader Ed Marten passed away on 25 June. Since 1960, Ed had competed in 58 national championships and was the team manager for the World Archery Field Championships in 1972. Ed served on USA Archery's board. He also worked for the National Olympic Committee as a data processing manager. Ed was also instrumental in developing the national federation's computer programmes and scoring programmes for events. He belonged to several archery clubs and dedicated his time to growing archery at grassroots and professional levels.

Shop

Limited edition

A limited number of target faces featuring the white 12-ring are now available for purchase in World Archery's online shop. The new design, based on the standard indoor triangular triple-spot, was printed by Krüger for use exclusively in the Lockdown Knockout. There are only 900 targets as this is the limited excess from the print run for the online remote competition.
